BOMBS DROPPED ON ITALIAN SHIPS AND SIX OFFICERS SLAIN

Spanish Government Planes Charged With Attack On Patrolling Naval Vessels in Report to Non-Intervention Committee—British Government Also Asks Explanation of Incident

LONDON, May 28.—Six Italian naval officers were killed and several were wounded on Wednesday when four Italian warships on non-intervention patrol duty were bombed at Palma, Mallorca, by Spanish Government planes, the Italian delegate charged before the Non-Intervention Committee here tonight.

The British Government is understood to have asked Valencia for an explanation, apparently, acting on reports sent to London by the British destroyer Harvey, which was on the scene and witnessed the incident.

ALSO AT SCENE
The German battleship Deutschland also was at Palma, an insurgent stronghold, at the time of the attack.

Premier Mussolini's spokesman declared Italy would hereafter be prepared to defend its men-of-war against such attacks, but wished to protest the incident as a violation of the neutrality control plan.

The neutrality committee tabled the Italian charge and voted a resolution taking note of the incident and reserving the right to take whatever steps might be considered necessary after an inquiry had been carried out in Valencia.

COMES TO DEFENCE
The Soviet Union's delegate came to Valencia's defence, asserting the committee could not possibly act until an explanation had been received from the Spanish Government.

TWO MEN DIE IN RACE TESTS

Bad Accidents Mar Trials At Indianapolis—Five Persons Injured

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28 (P).—Two men died in accidents at the Indianapolis motor speedway today as drivers performed at dizzy speeds in tests for Monday's 500-mile race. Two crashes resulted in the two deaths and the injury of five persons. George Warford, thirty-seven, of Indianapolis standing with a pit crew, and Albert Opalo, a mechanic of Gary, Ind., were the two killed.

BURSTS INTO FLAMES
Warford met death as a car driven by Overton Phillips, of Los Angeles, its gasoline tank punctured by a broken bit of mechanism, burst into flames and out of control, ran wild into the pit section opposite the main grandstand.

The blazing car collided with another machine being prepared by Vern Orendorff for a speed test, set this machine afire and both were destroyed.

The wreckage of the two cars was hauled away and drivers again took the track for tune-up tests and qualification runs.

PLUNGES INTO RAIL
Just before dusk Frank McGurk, of Los Angeles, with Opalo in the mechanic's seat, started on a qualification trip of twenty-five miles, he had completed four laps of the two and one-half mile track when disaster overtook him. A connecting rod broke and the car plunged through an inner rail and rolled over and over, hurling out the two occupants.

McGurk was taken to a hospital, his condition was described as serious.

Valencia Becomes Target For Bombs of Insurgents' War Planes Made in Italy

Two Hundred Estimated Dead After Dawn Attack Which Demolishes at Least Fifty Buildings—Red Cross Hospital Struck—Seven Killed On Ship Flying British Flag

VALENCIA, May 28 (P).—Generalissimo Franco, who would be Spain's dictator, turned his war planes today against Valencia, the Mediterranean seaport to which the Cabinet fled on November 7 to escape the siege of Madrid. A dawn attack by five planes brought death to an estimated 200 persons. Observers said the ships were of Italian manufacture.

At least fifty buildings were demolished. The Red Cross emergency hospital, identified by a huge painted red cross on its roof and with a red cross flag at the front of the building, was struck.

MERCHANTMEN STRUCK
Seven members of the crew were killed and eight injured when bombs dropped by the air raiders struck the cabin, a merchant ship flying the British flag, but believed by the British Admiralty to be a Spanish freighter.

The British freighter Pinzon, anchored in the harbor, was struck by another bomb which failed to explode. Continued on Page 2, Column 5

BLAMES CHURCH FOR DECADENCE

German Propaganda Minister Launches Attack Upon Catholic Clergy

BERLIN, May 28 (P).—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels charged tonight that a "general decadence of morals" exists in Germany among "Catholic seminaries and in wide circles of the Catholic clergy."

The fiery ruler of Germany's press, in a wrathful address to 20,000 persons gathered at church critics of his Government, threatened to summon high churchmen to testify under oath if they continued their "slander of Nazi justice—criticism of public opinion given to German trials and several convictions of churchmen on immorality charges."

He denied that religion or politics had anything to do with the immorality trials—a new series of which is to begin next month.

IN ANSWER TO CARDINAL
He proclaimed that his speech was in answer to the American Cardinal Mundelein's charge that the trials were marked by distorted propaganda and to the cardinal's reference to Reichsfuehrer Hitler as an "Austrian paperhanger."

Avowing that his answer was against these charges of "distortion of justice and law for egoistic ends," he declared that the clergy had failed to interfere to halt alleged improper practices, and cited the blood purge of 1934 as evidence the Nazis do their housecleaning.

Ottawa Not Expected to Aid Alberta

OTTAWA, May 28 (P).—The Dominion will be unable to accede to the request of the Alberta Government for a loan to assist in meeting a $1,650,000 bond maturity of the province falling due June 1, it is understood here.

Hon. J. L. Lacey, Acting Minister of Finance, is away from Ottawa, and his view was not ascertainable, but the present request is regarded here as falling in the same category as those refused in the past.

Last year the Dominion twice refused Alberta loans to meet bond maturities.

VANCOUVER, May 28 (P).—A twenty-three-year-old Vancouver drug store clerk and his twenty-four-year-old friend debated tonight on the peculiarities of fate as they suddenly found themselves the possible winners of $75,000 each in the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes—a dream come partly true.

Knighthood of Garter and Earldom Conferred on Retiring Premier—Cabinet Formed by Successor Continues National Character—Sir John Simon Takes Chamberlain's Former Post

LONDON, May 28 (P).—In a simple ceremony at Buckingham Palace today Neville Chamberlain received the Prime Ministership from the hands of the King. Smoothly and quickly the long-anticipated Cabinet changes were effected and Stanley Baldwin retired to the House of Lords and a life of comparative leisure after long service to the country and Empire.

Baldwin drove early in the morning to Buckingham Palace and tendered his resignation, fourteen years to the day from his election to head the Conservative Party.

HIGHEST DISTINCTION
The resignation was accepted and the King conferred upon him the highest distinction within the gift of the Crown—a Knighthood of the Garter—and granted him an earldom.

Then came Chamberlain, cars of the departing and incoming Prime Minister almost crossing paths at the Palace gates. Chamberlain bowed low over the King's extended hands, kissed them in the traditional pledge of fealty, and became head of the Government.

Quickly he formed his Cabinet. It contained few surprises and continued the national character of the twenty-one cabinet ministers, fifteen Conservatives, four National Liberals and two National Labor representatives.

THE NEW CHANCELLOR
Tall, white-haired, Sir John Simon "stepped" into Chamberlain's post as Chancellor of the Exchequer. He had been Home Secretary for the past two years.

SEEK CAUSE OF FAILURE

Russian Scientists Studying Peculiar Radio Problem In Polar Region

MOSCOW, May 28 (P).—Ten Russian scientists and radio engineers tonight set about trying to figure out why the elaborate radio equipment taken to the North Pole by a Soviet pioneering party didn't work.

The Academy of Sciences named the special commission to study the phenomena which prevented the main polar party from receiving radio reports from Pilot I. P. Masluruk when he landed only twenty-five or thirty-five miles away and whose messages were received by transmission back to Russia.

MAGNETIC STORMS
Terrific "magnetic storms" of immense power which occur in the Arctic and Antarctic for reasons as yet little understood were blamed by members of the polar expedition for their perplexing radio problems.

This opinion was advanced by Eugene Federov, magnetologist, who with his aides has set up a miniature laboratory for study of shifting magnetic influences which have played havoc not only with the radio but all of their electrical equipment.

The sun was held responsible for the magnetic storms which are occurring in sharply changing altitudes and cause apparent blank spots in the Arctic.

MILLIONS FOR MINING ROADS

Tentative Federal-Provincial Plans Call for $360,000 To Be Spent in B.C.

OTTAWA, May 28 (P).—Plans for new roads into mining areas are taking shape in the Department of Mines and Resources. It is expected some $2,000,000 will be expended jointly by Dominion and Provincial Governments, the Dominion spending $2 for every $1 by the Province.

The total Dominion contribution will be $1,400,000 and the Provincial $700,000.

Agreements with the Provinces for the expenditure of the money have not yet been signed, but a tentative allocation calls for the expenditure of $502,000 in Quebec, $496,000 in Ontario, $390,000 in British Columbia, $399,000 in Manitoba, $199,000 in Saskatchewan, $17,500 in Alberta and $37,500 in Nova Scotia. It was learned today from the Mines and Resources Department.

LONDON'S BUSES IN ACTION AGAIN

DOUBLE-DECKED red buses ran through the streets of the British metropolis again today as workers ended a month-old strike.

A small crowd gathered at 4 a.m. before the Hammersmith garage to see the first run start. Spectators cheered as bus No. 11 swung out of the doors and started moving to Liverpool Street.

By 5 a.m. about half the bus garages in the city were functioning, and by 6:30 a.m. all bus routes were in full swing once more.

Dionne Quintuplets "Whoop It Up" for Their Radio Friends

Five Little Three-Year-Old Sisters Have Extra Fun On Their Birthday Singing and Playing—Thousands of Messages

CALLANDER, Ont., May 28 (P).—The Dionne quintuplets, miraculously alive and well, paraded their lively spirits before the world tonight in celebration of their third birthday. They beat toy drums and sang into a radio microphone.

This was the highlight of a birthday celebration that otherwise meant little to the five famous children, the world's only quintuplets. Meals were the same, playtime was as usual. Yvonne, Annette, Cecile, Emilie and Marie had more visitors, maybe a little more fun.

WHOOPING IT UP
The best fun of all was whooping it up for a radio audience. Encouraged to make themselves heard, the "quints" sang together and separately, beat drums and blew on mouth organs.

Already showing feminine weakness for pretty clothes, the "quints" took special joy on their birthday in showing off dainty figured dresses and tiny hair bows that replaced their usual play suits.

SAN FRANCISCO BRIDGE OPENED

VICTORIA Pipers Third In Contest For Bands at Golden Gate Fiesta

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28 (P).—Automobiles began streaming across the Golden Gate Bridge at the estimated rate of 3,000 an hour today as the great span opened to vehicular traffic with spectacular salutes from 300 fighting planes, the United States fleet and uncounted thousands who watched and cheered.

President Roosevelt gave the signal for the historic moment when he pressed a button in the White House in Washington at noon and the resulting electrical impulse lighted a traffic control on the bridge.

Winners in the parade which opened the Golden Gate Bridge fiesta included: Vancouver, B.C., Kitano Boys' Band, second; First Battalion Canadian Scottish Bagpipe Band, Victoria, B.C., third.

Dictator Incident Arose at Premier's Northern Meeting

Bruce A. McKelvie Gives Context of Report of Premier Pattullo's Rally at Prince Rupert—
Conservatives Stress Need for Retrenchment

SPEAKING with three other city Conservative candidates at South Park School last evening, Bruce A. McKelvie replied to Hon. T. D. Pattullo on the "dictator" exchange of the present week of the campaign, wherein the Premier was declared to have made use of the word, but to have denied that it was seriously intended. Mr. McKelvie quoted an extensive passage from a report in The Prince Rupert News of May 17 last of a Liberal rally in the Premier's constituency.

Herbert Anson, Alderman J. D. Hunter, M.D., and Fred A. Willis, with Mr. McKelvie, addressed an enthusiastic meeting, with Hubert LeMay in the chair.

READS NEWS ACCOUNT

In reference to the Prince Rupert incident, Mr. McKelvie read the following excerpt from the account of the Premier's meeting as given in The Prince Rupert News:

"The Premier then turned to a memorandum of requests that had been made by the Trades and Labor Council. One request was for a Bill recognizing the right of collective bargaining. He wanted to know definitely what was meant by this. If it was proposed that it should be by means of One Big Union in the control of a handful of men, he was unequivocally opposed to it as it would only mean autocracy and dictatorship."

"Charlie Chapman (from the gallery): 'A few men are dictating now.'"

"Mr. Pattullo: 'If it comes to the time where it is necessary to have a dictator, I want to be the dictator.'"

"The Premier said he had no objection to Socialist principles. Indeed, he had advocated them himself. As long as it was not subversive or controversial of constitutional government, expression of Socialism would not be objected to by him," Mr. McKelvie read.

That, he said, had been the context of the passage as reported in a journal long sympathetic to the Premier.

HERBERT ANSON

Herbert Anson replied to Hon. John Hart on the issue of the debt of the Province. He declared that a member of the Civil Service had been drawn into the campaign by the issuance of a statement signed in his official capacity. Despite denials, Mr. Anson said he would repeat that the gross debt of the Province was nearly $200,000,000 and asserted that nobody could weigh the net debt by reason of the uncertainty of the value of unliquidated funds. The debt of the Province had increased by $91,000,000 in years in which the present Minister of Finance had been in charge of the treasury, Mr. Anson asserted, later outlining the Conservative platform clearly.

ALDERMAN J. D. HUNTER

Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter dealt with the position of Victoria City under present and past regimes, stating the city was paying $329,000 more this year than in 1931 on account of removal of liquor profits and pari-mutuel receipts not yet restored, the imposition of social service and relief burdens, and the stoppage of all relief loans by the Province. As a result, Victoria had to put $100,000 into the 1937 budget to care for relief, adding 2.5 mills to the taxes in times when unrevised Provincial laws compelled confiscation of homes of many respectable and hard-working citizens. He traced growing losses in tax revenue through Crown purchases of properties within the city limits, and

FAVORS VOTE OR EXCLUSION

Don Smith, Esquimalt C.C.F.
Nominee, Takes Stand on Oriental Franchise

"The C.C.F. stands for the rights of minority groups which have been permitted to enter this country," declared Don Smith, C.C.F. candidate in Esquimalt, at a meeting in Craigflower School last evening. Mr. Smith was answering a question on the subject of the Oriental vote. It should be remembered, he said, that it was a C.C.F. member of Parliament who moved in the House of Commons in Ottawa the resolution which read:

"That since certain minority groups are denied the privileges of citizenship in Canada, these groups should be excluded from the country."

"It was not the C.C.F. but the majority parties in the House of Commons which defeated this motion," he pointed out.

"Domination as they are by trusts and corporations, such as the C.P.R.," said Mr. Smith, "the Liberals and the Conservatives were unable to cast votes against cheap Oriental labor being permitted to enter this country and they defeated the C.C.F. resolution."

QUESTION SUBMERGED

If C.C.F. candidates in this provincial election, continued Mr. Smith, had appeared to treat the question lightly, it was because the point had been lost in overshadowing provincial issues. There was nothing in the British Columbia Provincial programme at this time, nor in the Regina Manifest dealing directly with the question of votes for Orientals. The question simply had not arisen at this time, he thought. The C.C.F. attitude to the Oriental question was an honest facing of facts. It might be summed up in this:

"Either allow them into the country and make them live properly, and give them, in return, responsibility as citizens or, on the other hand, exclude them altogether."

C. F. Hunt presided at the meeting. Joseph Round, Victoria, spoke in support of Mr. Smith's candidature. He said that the task of youth in modern civilization was to solve the problem of distribution as our fathers before us had solved the problem of production. Not only, stated Mr. Round, "is it ethically desirable, but it is also a scientific necessity if our civilization is to survive."

FAVORS HEALTH INSURANCE

Discussing the health insurance plebiscite, Mr. Smith said that he was anxious that the plebiscite be approved. He did not think the bill, as it passed the Legislature, went far enough in its provision for the health of the common people. The voters should not let the principle of health insurance be negated at the polls, because it was vital that such progressive legislation be not sidetracked, he concluded.

considered a possible future Prime Minister.

Leslie Hore-Belisha advanced from the Ministry of Transport to the War Office. This appointment aroused interest with informed sources, believing his forceful methods and initiative shown in dealing with traffic problems would have plenty of scope in the war secretaryship, particularly toward speeding up enlistment.

Alfred Duff Cooper stepped from the War Office to the Admiralty, and Oliver Stanley, son of the Earl of Derby, became President of the Board of Trade, succeeding Walter Runciman, who received a Viscountcy.

ONE LESS MEMBER

Chamberlain's Cabinet has one less member than Baldwin's. The first Commissioner of Works, Sir Philip Sassoon, did not get the Cabinet rank which his predecessor, Earl Stanhope, held. Earl Stanhope advanced to the presidency of the Board of Education, replacing Stanley.

Ramsay MacDonald's place as Lord President of the Council went to another elder statesman, Viscount Halifax, formerly Lord Privy Seal and Viceroy of India.

The Earl de La Warr, one of the two National Labor members of the Cabinet, became Lord Privy Seal. The other Labor member is Malcolm MacDonald, son of the retiring Ramsay MacDonald, who retained the Dominions Ministry.

Dr. Leslie Burgin stepped up to full Cabinet rank as Minister of Transport.

REMAIN AT POSTS

The Foreign Secretary, Anthony Eden, remained at his post as did Sir Thomas Inskip, Defence Coordinator; Viscount Simon, Air Minister; Lord Zetland, India; Walter Elliott, Secretary for Scotland; W. S. Morrison, Agriculture; Sir Kingsley Wood, Health; and Ernest Brown, Labor.

Simon, Brown, Burgin and Hore-Belisha are the National Liberal Cabinet members. The new members and those exchanging seats were received by the King and attended a special meeting of the Privy Council, at which the Duke of Kent attended with Ernest Lapointe, Canadian Minister of Justice and a recent appointee to the Privy Council, and Prime Minister Savage, of New Zealand.

AVERAGE AGE LESS

The average age of the new Cabinet is fifty-two years, five months against fifty-four years, three months for that of the old line-up. Chamberlain, sixty-eight, is the oldest and Malcolm MacDonald, thirty-six, the youngest.

The new Government takes office in a period of tranquillity at home, the bus strike is over and the threat of a nation-wide coal strike vanished yesterday. Observers agreed Baldwin left his successor an "office in good order." Chamberlain will immediately succeed Baldwin as chairman of the current Imperial Conference.

On Monday Chamberlain will be elected chief of the Conservative Party and he also will take Baldwin's place as Government leader in the House of Commons. The Earl of Derby will propose the new Premier as Conservative leader at Monday's meeting, with Winston Churchill seconding the motion.

VACANCIES CREATED

The Peerages conferred upon Baldwin, Runciman and Sir John Davidson will create Parliamentary vacancies in Bewdley, Hampstead and St. Ives, bringing the number of pending by-elections to ten.

Neville Chamberlain entered public life late for a member of his distinguished family but rose rapidly to the forefront. Some students of his capabilities believe he may yet prove to be the most noted of a family that included a famous father, Joseph Chamberlain, the Imperialist, and a famed brother, Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary and father of the Locarno Peace Pact.

WILL CONCLUDE DINNER MEETINGS

Active Club to Hold Final Gathering of Spring Term on Thursday, June 24

The Active Club will conclude its dinner meetings for the Spring season, following two meetings to be held on June 10 and June 24. It was decided at their dinner meeting held Thursday evening at the Dominion Hotel.

Plans were discussed for the anniversary dinner to be held some time in October.

Members who assisted in the clearing of broom around the Sunshine Campsite at Sooke, recently enjoyed a picnic on the grounds during their stay. They will visit Sooke on Sunday, June 6, when they hope to finish clearing the broom.

A letter was read from Ernest Frederick Chester asking for their co-operation in support of the play entitled, "It Happened in Hollywood" which Mr. Chester will direct with local artists taking part. This three-act play will be given at the Empire Theatre on the evenings of June 4 and 5. The proceeds will go towards the building of a civic theatre here.

plode, causing slight damage to the ship's bridge. There were no casualties.

The planes dropped ninety bombs on the sleeping city. The terrific explosions blew men, women and children from their beds. Panic gripped the temporary Spanish Government capital for hours.

A bomb demolished the building housing the Paraguay consulate and killed seven of its occupants, but the consul and his family escaped injury.

As frantic rescue workers dug into the ruins, more bodies were uncovered. By noon, seventy-six of the dead had been identified.

The British Embassy, damaged by a bomb on May 15, again was shaken in today's air raid.

Insurgent planes, sweeping in from the sea, first attacked the harbor, then flew over the centre of the city and also bombed nearby villages.

"Libelous and False"

Declaring that the advertisement recently published in Victoria and Vancouver newspapers in which he had been represented as saying at Prince Rupert, "I want to be dictator," was "libelous, false and full of misrepresentation," Premier T. D. Pattullo addressed a public meeting Thursday night in Stacey's Hall, Sidney, in support of Alexander McDonald, Liberal candidate in The Islands riding.

"I see no sponsorship mentioned for the advertisement," the Premier stated. "The only thing tying it up in any way is 'Vote Conservative' at the bottom."

"LIFTED FROM CONTEXT"

The Premier asserted that the remark heading the advertisement regarding "dictator" had been lifted from its context.

"When the remark was made I was discussing the aims of the C.C.F. party and the autocratic, bureaucratic, dictatorial attitude it assumes, pointing out it could only hold office by force. Under this regime, I said, no one would have the freedom to say the very things they are saying now," the Premier said.

"At this point, a man in the audience said that some people were trying to dictate now. I replied jocularly, 'Well, if there's going to be a dictator, I want to be dictator.'"

LIBERAL FREEDOM

"As a matter of fact, the Liberal party is as far away from dictatorial methods as any party could get. It gives full freedom of action to all members, as your own Mr. McDonald can testify. He voted against the Government on the Fraser River Bridge. Was he driven out of the party, like the C.C.F. drove Mr. Connell out? Was he driven out like the C.C.F. will also drive Mr. Woodsworth out if it gains power?"

"In the Liberal party we are democratic and don't do that sort of thing," Premier Pattullo declared.

Church this morning with their three eldest children, Ernest, Rose and Therese.

After Mass, Mrs. Dionne visited her five famous daughters. The record morning crowd was able to watch Mrs. Dionne walking and romping with the children in their spacious playground.

More than 1,000 messages of greeting and good wishes were received by Canada's sweethearts on their birthday.

Dr. Dafeo, physician to the "quints," was on hand with genial smiles. He remarked the tumor removed with radium from Marie's thigh had left only a slight discolouration. He pronounced his charges physically fit as they entered into a new year.

FINES IMPOSED UPON CHINESE

Three Accused Must Pay
$100 Each or Serve Three Months in Jail

In the Saanich police court Thursday, the remainder of the charges against Chinese, who were alleged to have interfered with the Saanich police in the discharge of their duties on the night of May 1 were disposed of by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Edward Lore, charged with having assaulted Sergeant P. K. Cummings on that occasion, was found guilty and fined $100, or in default three months with hard labor. He was allowed a week in which to pay the fine.

Loy Song, on a similar charge, was meted out the same penalty and given a week to pay.

Sentences were also passed on Lore Ching, previously convicted for assaulting a police officer. He was given the same fine with the option of three months in jail, and a week allowed in which to pay. On the charge of driving to the common danger upon which Lore Ching was convicted a few days before, a fine of $20 or ten days in default was imposed.

To all the other charges laid against the accused, pleas of not guilty were entered by Stuart Henderson, counsel for the accused, and the lack of evidence being produced against them was followed by the dismissal of the charges.

SAYS HIGHWAY BOARD NEEDED

W. H. M. Haldane Declares
Commission Possible Here
Under Conservatives

Establishment of a highway commission independent of political control would be possible under a Conservative government in British Columbia, said W. H. M. Haldane, vice-president of the Victoria Conservative Association, in an address to the Victoria Conservative Association at Gordon Head last night. Mr. Haldane was speaking in support of Leslie Osborne, the Conservative candidate.

He said there had been some doubt concerning a commission here and some had expressed an opinion it would be impossible to secure men who would be free of politics. Mr. Haldane disagreed with those critics and mentioned as examples of non-political boards, the Workmen's Compensation Board and the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada. "I am certain Dr. Patterson, as premier of this province, and with the aid of members of the Legislature, would be able to select men suitable for a highway commission," Mr. Haldane remarked.

TOURIST INDUSTRY
The speaker, discussing the tourist industry, said he did not believe the Pattullo Government realized the importance of that industry because the one matter of importance was good roads. He mentioned the Government had borrowed $3,000,000, contrary to all constitutional practice, which was being spent all over the province "for nothing else but political advantage."

Mr. Haldane said he was firmly convinced Premier Pattullo had summoned an election, not because of the health insurance scheme, but because of "the very noticeable swing toward Conservatism throughout the province."

CONSERVATIVE POLICY
Mr. Osborne reviewed the programme of the Conservative Party and remarked there were no planks in it "designed to catch votes." It was, he said, a common-sense programme of necessary undertakings, mentioning in particular the proposed assistance to farmers, the removal of the civil service from the sphere of politics and revision of the Securities Frauds Prevention Act "to stop such things as happened in connection with Hedley Amalgamated."

The candidate also attacked the Government of the day on what he termed "reckless expenditures on travelling and health insurance." The Pattullo Administration, he said, estimated for $50,000 the purchase of new furniture for the Legislative Buildings in 1937. "When Dr. Patterson becomes premier, we will have to look for someone to buy the furniture in two Cabinet offices which will be eliminated," said Mr. Osborne. He dealt with the Fraser River Bridge, Special Powers, Act and the provincial debt.

CAPITALISM VS. SOCIALISM
The final speaker was Dr. W. B. Clayton, Duncan, who spoke on "Capitalism Versus C.C.F., Socialism and Communism" and of conditions prevailing in New Zealand. Dr. Clayton stated he was in that Dominion last year and had an opportunity of making a close study of the situation there. He mentioned the C.C.F. claimed that prosperity had come into New Zealand as the result of a Socialist government. He disagreed with that claim. The last eighteen months had brought to the country better times than for twenty years, due, he said, to the high price of wool and increased markets secured by the former government.

"But what has the government done for the people?" he asked. "Not what the C.C.F. would have you believe. You now have higher taxes, a higher cost of living with a decreased purchasing power. The Government is not the success our friends would make us think," Dr. Clayton said.

Colonel S. L. McMullen was the chairman.

INCREASING INCOME TAX

Those now subject to the mandatory income tax of one per cent taken from the pay rolls will experience a further two per cent income tax, added to this, in the event of compulsory health insurance going into effect. The two per cent will presumably be taken from the income or wage after the one per cent has been deducted, or else based on what the full income or wage has been before the one per cent was taken arbitrarily from the pay roll. In other words, the beneficiaries under compulsory health insurance will never handle the money which they are to pay out to a Health Insurance Commission. At least three per cent on incomes and wages up to $1,800 a year is to be levied on workers. This is equivalent to $54 a year (on an income of $1,800). The insurance scheme, according to the promise of the Liberal Government, is to be "progressively applied," a split infinitive which implies the ultimate inclusion of everyone. Thus in income tax, where it can be secured at the fountain head (the pay roll), the sum levied would be $150 per annum on a salary of $5,000 and $300 on a salary of $10,000, and this would be apart from the other levies of income tax for general purposes.

The Provincial Government, in its compulsory health insurance scheme, proposes to delegate its powers of levying taxation to a Health Insurance Commission. There will thus be taxation without representation, because the people will have no representatives on the Health Insurance Commission, the personnel of which are now in office drawing emoluments and doing nothing. The expenditures of the money collected will be in the hands of a bureaucracy, one, it is true, appointed by the Government, but one that in many particulars, according to the legislation now on the statute books, will be a law unto itself. The figures of taxation quoted, which include the one per cent income tax levied on pay rolls, are not stationary except in the case of the one per cent. That proposed for health insurance is susceptible to increase; for if the scheme is to be "progressively applied" it will mean increased taxation. No assurance to the contrary can be given. The plan, as now prepared, has proved inoperative, and chiefly because there is insufficient taxation provided for to make it operative. The corollary of this is that any new proposal, provided the people give an affirmative answer to Tuesday's plebiscite, will mean taxation over and above that set forth in the present Act. In other words, employees will be called upon to pay more than two per cent of their salaries or wages for compulsory health insurance, and it is possible, too, that the tax on employers of one per cent will also be increased.

The prospect to be faced under compulsory health insurance is uncertain. The people know the partial nature of the benefits proposed. They cannot know what will be the limit of the taxation to be imposed. They know that, in the case of serious illness, they will still have to provide the bulk of the money necessary for hospital treatment themselves, apart from what they pay into the insurance fund. In the case where special attention and treatment are needed, with day and night nurses and private rooms, the contribution made by the Health Insurance Commission to what may be a matter of life and death to the patient will be a mere flea bite of the expense involved. These are some of the considerations that cannot fail to be entertained by all those who will vote on Tuesday's plebiscite. The people are asked to submit to mandatory taxation, of which they cannot know the limits, for benefits that are definitely circumscribed. They have been told that the Act now on the statute books is the best that can be devised. It is that Act, therefore, which has proved inoperative, that should be definitely negated when the people go to the polls.

THE PRESS A CENTURY AGO

Newspaper comment upon the Coronation of Queen Victoria, just ninety-nine years ago, furnishes the present generation with some idea of the changes which have taken place in manners in general, and particularly the animosity, censoriousness and unrestrained freedom of speech which characterized the journals of that day. A striking illustration of the contrast between that era and the present appeared recently in the columns of a journal which today stands upon a high plane as a fair-minded commentator on public affairs. The London Spectator's remarks upon Queen Victoria's Coronation in 1838 were reprinted in the issue of April 7, 1937.

The Spectator's political position is usually described as Left Centre. In 1838, however, it was certainly a considerable distance to the left of centre. Its temper in dealing with the Coronation of the young Queen was sour and ungracious. Its criticisms of the ceremony, its sneers at the Church dignitaries and their official attire, its manner of alluding to the accidents which befel one of the bishops and a certain aged and infirm peer—all of these features of the article must have brought joy to the hearts of the revolutionaries and radical agitators of the day. The first impression which a perusal of this ill-mannered article will produce upon the average decent citizen will be that at no time has the world been free from the scourge of envy, that the agitators and trouble-makers of today are by no means a new species. It may prove instructive to cull a few choice specimens of the wit and humor, the delicacy and taste of The Spectator's critique of a hundred years ago.

Of the musical performance of the Westminster boys the comment was that "they screamed out at the top of their tuneless voices a kind of chant." When the Bishop of Exeter, "eager to be near the glittering Ambassador" (Prince Esterhazy), tripped and fell on the floor, "his right reverend brethren hurried to pick him up; and as they gathered around the prostrate Prelate looked like a set of old alms-women chattering under the influence of a too-potent spirit." The critic was very severe upon "the glittering and gilded attire" of ecclesiastics who "profess to despise pomp and ceremony," and does not conceal his pleasure in recording the mishap to one of their number. The accident was described with great relish as "a good scene." It was clearly a necessary part of the purpose of the article that every incident and circumstance of the ceremony should, if possible, be made the occasion of a jibe. Accordingly he attempted a pun upon the name of the elderly nobleman who fell on the steps of the throne. The writer admitted that the Maids of Honor were dressed "simply and in good taste," but he followed this immediately by saying that there were "some shocking frights, male and female, with coronets."

If the critic was right in his comments upon the recipients of Coronation Peersages, only one of the twelve elevations and new creations had performed public services worthy of recognition. They were told off by name. This one achieved his title by a "job," that one controlled a rotten borough, the only distinction of a third was that he kept a pack of hounds, a fourth was without any merit whatever, a fifth insignificant, and so on.

The splenetic language of envy and malice, although it may still be heard among radicals and levellers, rarely finds its way into the columns of reputable newspapers now-a-days. Of course the professional trouble-maker and agitator still wields his favorite weapon of denunciation with as much vigor as he did a century ago. The fact is that in the early years of Victoria's reign there was quite as much political and social unrest as there is today, there were just as many indefinite plans with high-sounding names for the betterment of affairs, just as much denunciation of existing institutions, just as many agitators trying to find their way about in the crepuscular obscurity of a nebulous ideology, just as many fault-finders and grumblers.

"Peace to the grumblers of an envious age, Vapid in spleen and brisk with frothy rage."

THE CHIL

Never we know but in ale and in snow,
The place where the great fires are,
That the midst of the earth is a raging mirth
And the heart of the earth a star.
And at night we win to the ancient inn
Where the child in the forest is fured
We follow the feet where all souls meet
At the inn at the end of the world.
The gods lie dead where the leaves lie red,
For the flame of the sun is frown.
The gods lie cold where the leaves lie gold,
And a child comes forth alone.
—Gilbert K. Chesterton.

IN DIVERSE TONGUES

English was not alone the language used in the broadcasting of the Coronation event. In addition thirty speakers, in various tongues, told of the happenings in the vernacular of the lands to hearers the messages were addressed. No other event in the world has ever been so widely or so simultaneously disseminated, and the marvelous achievement adds still one more prominent incident to the record of an outstanding day.—Brantford Examiner.

IN COMMON

To dream of a Commonwealth of Nations that will some day take in the United States of America is perhaps to dream too much. In the meantime it is much to know that in all vital things, in nearly all the supreme things of life, the heart of the great nation to the south of us does beat with the Empire; holds for common ideal common aspirations, common truths. In the maintenance of that free harmony in the years ahead must lie much of the future good of the world.—Ottawa Journal.

Note and Comment
By Sandham Graves

The old world rolls along, doesn't it? Yesterday somebody, with nothing better to do, broke a piece off the sundial at the sunken gardens of the Legislative Buildings, a natural timepiece over which great pains have been taken. A distinctive asset in an excellent setting, the sundial has become one of the show points on the west side of the grounds. Vandalism has no excuse.

Probably the worst that can happen to a Mayor in Canada is that he may be asked to take the chair at a political meeting. It is not so in Hungary, however. Mayor Andor Palffy, of Szeged, Hungary, was challenged to one hundred duels last week by members of the Arrow and Cross Society, a Nazi organization. His Worship, it developed, had refused to rename the streets of his town after Nazi leaders. A man of balance, Mayor Palffy told his challengers not to be silly, and went on with his job at the Szeged city hall.

Down in Jackson, Missouri, a young man of sixty-four years of age will graduate from high school this year, after a struggle over six decades in search of an education. Kept from school by poor parents in his youth, the man worked hard to support a wife and ten children of his own later. When his wife died and his children grew up, he went to school for the first time, going through all necessary grades from kindergarten to high school. This summer he will graduate. "I think I will stop and blow a while," he told interviewers recently. "I can read books and study by myself now." Which serves for another point, and that is: All life can be an education, when the will is there.

Amish and Mennonite farmers down in Pennsylvania journeyed to Washington recently to ask the United States Government not to spend $125,000 on a new school building in their community out of public funds. It was explained: "They don't believe in borrowing money, or taking it as a gift, even from the Government. They have nobody on relief in their township, and they do not wish anyone to go on relief. They don't want luxuries and are against school buses, because their children will grow up to be farmers and will need strong legs." That is either madness or wisdom, and the verdict is with you.

In the Doukhobor areas of British Columbia men and women went to jail last week for failure to fill out a government form registering the birth of one or more of their children. At Nelson thirteen defendants, including one woman went to jail rather than make the prescribed registration under the British Columbia Vital Statistics Act. The "sentences" were two months in the case of some of the defendants who had more than one child, by way of default in fines of $20. This column would not counsel anyone to break the law. At the same time the outlook from behind prison bars will probably not endear the defendants to the British Columbia Vital Statistics Act. Observing the law, particularly among divergent peoples, is usually achieved by an educative rather than a punitive process. Some years ago elements of the same sect were sent to jail for three years on Piers Island for removing their clothes in public. Happily they had not heard of our ballrooms. It all makes strange reading in this enlightened and democratic age.

On the other hand, authorities in the southern states released a seventy-three-year-old woman from jail the other day on parole, after she had been incarcerated for nine years for the murder of her husband in 1928. At the trial she had claimed that he had taken his own life, but she had not been believed. Paroled in a preliminary way, with permanent freedom offered to her, the woman returned to her prison voluntarily. To the board of pardons she wrote, in part: "Many thanks for your parole. I do not want it extended. I intend to return to prison to spend the rest of my days. I am very unhappy." Shades of Dr. Manette!

On the Great Lakes, the freighter William J. Connors put back to port last week after loading grain. In her hold, and slowly suffocating under the wheat, was a grain trimmer caught unnoticed in the sliding mass of golden kernels when the ship loaded 60,000 bushels at Duluth. Forty minutes after leaving port the chief engineer heard faint tapping on the wall of one of the grain holds. He tapped back, and his signal was answered. Three taps from the engineer brought three taps from inside the hold and so on. The skipper told the ship about and raced for port. One hour later grain spouts dropped into the uncovered hold and a desperate battle against time continued. Some 4,000 bushels were siphoned out before the luckless man was sighted, and quickly rescued. "I thought I was a gonner," he declared.

At Lakehurst, New Jersey, investigation into the cause of the airship Hindenburg disaster continues, with a mass of evidence heard. Much of the evidence was secondary to the actual moment of the explosion which sent the huge silver airship down in a raging mass of flame. Survivors on the ground and from the dirigible told what they knew. Dr. Hugo Eckener publicly abandoned all thought of sabotage. He attributed the explosion to ignition of an inflammable mixture of hydrogen and oxygen by static electricity. He renewed a request for reasonable access to helium reserves, to save such disasters in future. The story seems to be that the huge ship in turning broke an internal wire stay, which punctured a rear gas bag at the top, allowed hydrogen to shift aft and accumulate in the stern, where a spark of untraced origin set off the mixture, and, of course, fired all the gas bags in turn. The wonder is that anyone on the ship remained alive after those fatal forty-two seconds.

Interest in the Coronation is waning. That in the election is in the ascendancy. From the welter of charges and counter charges, you hear on street corners and in street cars such scraps of conversation as these: "—And Tom Uphill says to the House, he says, 'It takes no brains to be elected.' He says, 'That's lack of brains on the part of the electors.'"

"Yeah, I've not it figured this way: that the country gets the Government it deserves, don't it? Well, they say the mental age of the average elector is fourteen, or something, so you can figure out the type of Government you're going to get, anyhow."

"Two and two in Victoria, if some of the boys don't get on the heat."

"Cowichan's the hardest seat to pick on the Island."

"You can't tell anything until all the ballots are in and counted, and with the absentee ballot it may be a couple of months after that, in some cases."

Help for the Hairless

"Snub," the club steward, felt quite elated when he read that a patent had been filed at Washington, D.C., for a machine that bores tiny holes in a man's scalp and inserts hairs of any desired color. "Snub's" friends suggested that he choose red hair to fit his disposition. "It would be a real improvement," they said. "You can't tell anything until all the hairs are in and counted, and with the absentee ballot it may be a couple of months after that, in some cases."

Glancing Over Sport

Maxie Baer, former champion, is back in the running for another shot at Tommy Farr, English heavyweight, by his one-sided victory over Ben Poord, South African, and a former holder of the British Empire title. Baer battered Poord all over the ring the other night in London, to stop him in the ninth session. Nanaimo football players have refused to take part in today's match at the Athletic Park against a representative Vancouver eleven.

The next golfing event on the calendar is the women's city championship at the Colwood course. Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, of Uplands Club, will be there to defend the title she lifted last year by defeating Miss Dorothy Fletcher.

Since Wes Schulmerich has taken over the Lewiston Ball Club the team has won four out of five starts. But before they set a new world's record for losing games, twenty-three straight.

A touring colored softball nine from the Eastern States is expected to play two exhibition games in the city in the near future, according to reports circulating around at present. Abe Sapperstein, who brought the Harlem Globe-Trotters, a manager of the club. Another barnstorming team from Los Angeles, the Red Devils, are also after a double-header here next month.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S FINANCES

Sir,—During the period from 1917 to 1928 the Liberal Party formed the Government of British Columbia. Premier Pattullo held a Cabinet position throughout that period and the Hon. John Hart was Finance Minister from 1918 to 1924.

During the twelve years the Liberals were in office over 100 Taxation Bills were introduced into the Legislature, Hon. Mr. Hart being responsible for sixty of them.

He doubled the Land Tax.

He doubled the Personal Property Tax.

He doubled the Income Tax. Then added a Surtax. Taxation by Hon. John Hart was the principal cause for increased revenues. He has brought in twelve Budgets. Only one Budget produced an actual surplus. Look at the list. They speak for themselves:

1918-19	Deficit	$1,181,008
1919-20	Surplus	351,330
1920-21	Deficit	4,407,416
1921-22	Deficit	1,790,292
1922-23	Deficit	1,180,563
1923-24	Deficit	1,838,561
1924-25	Deficit	1,846,405

In 1918 the gross debt was $25,521,890

In 1924 the gross debt was 99,506,249

Increase during Mr. Hart's term of office was 74,000,000

In 1933 Mr. Hart became Finance Minister in the Pattullo Government. Has his record improved? Decidedly not! Each Budget since taking office would show a deficit if all of the charges were made against income.

Eleven years deficits, one year surplus.

B.C.'s gross debt actually stands over $200,000,000

Mr. Hart is responsible for increase 1918-24 74,000,000

Mr. Hart is responsible for increase 1923-37 34,000,000

Total $108,000,000

Over one-half our gross debt.

He was Finance Minister when millions were squandered on land and irrigation schemes, the University bridge, the state health insurance. These bills had his support, and now he favors the Pattullo annexation of the Yukon.

Premier Pattullo says "We will borrow more money." More debt must be incurred. Does Mr. Hart agree with this? We owe the Federal Government over $32,000,000. Mr. Hart says "We may not pay it."

What will the Federal Minister of Finance say to Mr. Hart?

What is to be the end of this evasion and equivocation? Be honest, Mr. Hart, and tell us.

Why not "Jesse" Hart?

J. W. JONES.

Former Minister of Finance, 622 View Street, Victoria, B.C., May 27, 1937.

THE MAYORALTY AND PARTY POLITICS

Sir,—I always thought that it was an unwritten, but usually observed, law that the mayor of a municipality should abstain from participation in party politics during his tenure of office. I was much surprised to see our present Mayor actively supporting the Liberal Party during the present campaign. Mr. Leeming, his predecessor, although a party supporter, always maintained a strict neutrality in Dominion and Provincial politics during his long occupation of the mayoral chair. It seems a pity that his successor, who seems to have

SOCIAL CREDIT APPEAL

Sir,—This is an appeal to my friends and fellow-voters of Esquimalt Electoral District.

Speaking at Esquimalt on May 7, Premier T. D. Pattullo said: "What on earth will you in British Columbia do if you don't increase your debt?"

Speaking at Victoria on May 10, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, said, that since coming into office three and a half years ago, the Government had borrowed twenty-four million dollars, thus increasing the net debt of the Province to 160 millions of dollars.

The present Administration has now reached an all-time high in debt and taxes, and an all-time low in political morality. On June 1 you will have an opportunity of showing if you are in favor of a political system involving comprehensive debt and taxes progressively applied, or will vote for a different economic system than the debt finance of the Liberal Party.

I would ask you, therefore, on behalf of honest administration of this Province to vote against the Liberal Government's candidate, and if your political affiliations are not already bespoken elsewhere, to accord, if possible, your suffrages to the Social Credit candidate, Mrs. E. Boydell.

Yours for a better British Columbia.

SHIPWRECKED CREW

When the American Mail Line St. President McKinley arrived here Thursday morning, there were aboard her seven sailors who had been shipwrecked on a South Sea island when the motorship Fijian, bound from San Francisco to New Guinea, sank two months ago. They were Chief Engineer Olaf Olson, Second Engineer Bjorn Withoff, and Left Wijkund, Sigurd Olsen, Arild Liland, Haakon Johnsen and Bjorne Erickson.

Withoff stated there was an explosion in the hold of the 6,000-ton craft one evening. There was no fire, but the ship started sinking and the crew took to the boats. The crew comprised thirty-one Chinese and eleven whites. They were at sea in the ship's boats for twenty hours, when they were picked up by a little Japanese vessel and landed at Jalut Island, where they waited a month for a ship to take them to Yokohama. When they came in on the McKinley, they were on their way to San Francisco, their home port.

Delicate Operation Performed in Mid-Pacific Was Apparently Successful

HONOLULU, May 28 (AP). — The liner Niagara arrived today from New Zealand, bringing new information concerning the illness of George F. Baker, New York banker, aboard his yacht Viking in Mid-Pacific.

The operation for peritonitis was performed by Dr. John A. Newell, of Sydney, Australia, it was learned. Instead of the Niagara's doctor, W. B. Clarke, of Vancouver, as previously announced.

Dr. Newell, a passenger, and a British nurse, Miss Dorothy A. Jackson, of Bristol, boarded the Viking Monday evening, and the operation was performed Tuesday night.

IN NO DANGER

ABOARD CUTTER TANEY, IN MID-PACIFIC, May 28 (AP). — George F. Baker, one of the world's wealthiest men, was reported out of immediate danger today.

Dr. D. J. Zaugg, of the United States public health service, boarded the yacht Viking early today, after a race to bring emergency aid to Baker, during which the cutter Taney was converted in mid-ocean into a floating hospital.

Dr. Zaugg reported no immediate blood transfusion was necessary to save the fifty-nine-year-old banker from peritonitis. He said no attempt would be made to transfer the chairman of the First National Bank of New York from his yacht to the cutter. Dr. Zaugg will remain aboard the yacht during a 270-mile race to Honolulu.

SEA WAS CALM

Flashing searchlights of the Viking led the Taney to the yacht's side early this morning, ending the speedy mercy dash. Dr. Zaugg and available medical supplies were lowered with a small boat, and five minutes later he was at Baker's bedside aboard the yacht. Calm seas and bright moonlight facilitated the transfer.

The Viking appealed for aid yesterday after Baker had undergone an emergency operation performed by Dr. Newell, passenger on Canadian-Australian liner Niagara, which hove to in answer to the Viking's plea for aid.

Last night the United States Navy entered the race against death, sending a plane out from Honolulu to overtake the cutter with serum after the Tokyo sailed with Dr. Zaugg.

Japanese and Chinese Christians are reported to be moving toward closer relations. It was planned that a joint retreat of the Japanese and Chinese National Councils would be held last month. This may be taken as one of the steps preparatory to the meeting in 1938 at Hangchow of the International Council of Missions, the last assembly of which took place at Jerusalem.

Thermopylae Club Active in Move to Preserve Old Tilikum

By F. V. LONGSTAFF

The Tilikum at Victoria represents a unique combination of primitive shipwrightery and the up-to-date seamanship of the highest quality. There is no other surviving example of such a combination of skill in native Indian design or marine architecture, the shape of hull entirely laid off by the eye of the Indian workman, and cut out from one cedar log.

She was then adapted, fitted and rigged by such a consummate seaman as Captain Voss, and controlled by the same genius in the midst of the heaviest gales and seas. The wonderful use of the seaman wherein this very small and frail but perfect vessel was conducted with absolute safety through the greatest dangers. Through such seas that the greatest sailing ships of deep water quality could not have escaped without great damage and danger of destruction. The example of smallness, being far more safe than largeness, is a feat almost unbelievable by ordinary people, ashore and afloat.

It is to preserve this unique minute vessel, that the Thermopylae Club, under Captain McDonald, is campaigning to raise the very small sum of $200 to effect a complete restoration of the hull as it lies on the ground outside the Crystal Garden swimming baths in Victoria. There is no other craft in the world which signifies such wonderful design or was sailed by such a remarkable and skilful seaman as this the Tilikum. There is nothing like it in any other part of

HOW THE STORY OF ENO GOES AROUND

By word of mouth, by the personal testimony of one man or woman to another, the fame of ENO'S "Fruit Salt" has spread to the uttermost parts of the world.

ENO has gone from success to success simply because it keeps the inner system clean and healthful in a safe, gentle, but effective manner, without forming any harmful habit. Those who make it their rule to take this pleasant alkaline corrective regularly are never troubled with sluggish, clogged intestines—never suffer from headaches, indigestion, acidity, and other ailments caused by constipation. And, for their health's sake, they always insist on ENO'S "Fruit Salt." Follow their example—buy a bottle today.

TRIBUTE GIVEN HON. G. PEARSON

Norman Whittaker, K.C., Presents Concise Resume Of Government's Record

Warm tribute to the work done by the Department of Labor, under the guidance of Hon. George S. Pearson, was paid last night by Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., at a well-attended election meeting held at Hampton Hall, Buntford Road. Mr. Whittaker was supported on the platform by C. J. McDowell, E. E. Bell, president of the Saanich Liberal Association, occupied the chair.

"When the administration took office, it found thousands of young men without work, and rapidly losing their morale," said Mr. Whittaker. "Last year, 5,000 single homeless men were given work on various projects. Others were cared for on farms, in forestry camps and in placer mining camps, where they were trained, and later equipped with tools and grubstakes."

He described the manner in which Mr. Pearson had administered the Minimum Wage Act, and the fine work of the Board of Industrial Relations, which he declared was responsible for increasing wages in the province approximately $70,000,000 per annum. During the Tolmie Administration, he said, only $4,000 had been collected in back wages under minimum wage legislation, while under the Liberal regime there had been $80,000 collected.

INCREASE IN PENSIONS

Mr. Whittaker also drew attention to the institution of physical and recreational training classes for young people by the Government, and the manner in which the Liberals had increased not only monthly pensions, but allowance under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

"My Conservative opponent, Mr. Leslie Osborne, has commented in many of his speeches on the fact that the Government has spent $503,000 on traveling expenses," Mr. Whittaker continued, "and is seemingly giving the impression this was all spent by the Liberal Cabinet. That is not so. Expenses to Ottawa cost about $70,000, and the larger figure is that which was spent on traveling by all branches of the civil service."

"The trips made East by Premier Pattullo and other members of the Government were responsible for obtaining the sum of $2,250,000 for British Columbia, when our representatives asked for better terms. Any businessman will tell you that to spend $70,000 to obtain $2,250,000 is good business indeed."

Mr. McDowell assured the audience that the administration would be returned with a clear majority over all, and in many constituencies would make gains. The Conservatives, he said, may win four seats, but certainly not more than six. Dismissing them as being without any chance to form a government, he turned his fire on the C.C.F. party.

"In Vancouver East," he said, "you have Dr. Lyle Telford and Harold Winch opposed by two men who have fought for a quarter century in the best interests of labor—Bill Pritchard and Jack Price. Is it reasonable to assume that these men would be fighting the C.C.F. if there was not something wrong with the doctrine of the party?"

Mr. McDowell asked for the return of Mr. Whittaker to assist in the continuance of Government policy; to assist in the development of the southern end of the island, and the completion of the road to Port Renfrew, and finally because of the fine manner in which the Liberal candidate had served his constituents in the Legislature. "His work has been commended by the press, by the Government and the Opposition alike," he declared.

Victoria Club Makes Clean Sweep—Other Teams Break Even

Considering the inclement state of the weather, the brand of bowling put up by the lawn bowlers of the district was very creditable. There was a very high wind, and at intervals rain made itself manifest. Especially was this the case at Beacon Hill. Those who were fortunate in being drawn for Lake Hill greens found conditions much better.

Two district trophies were at stake, the Cameron-Nicol and the Whitney, two rinks representing each club. In the former, Victoria defeated Victoria West at Beacon Hill, 51 to 26, while at Lake Hill the C.P.R. beat Lake Hill, 38 to 36. In the Whitney competition, at Beacon Hill, Victoria got the better of Victoria West, 40 to 34, and Lake Hill, on their own greens, won from the C.P.R., 53 to 47.

These were the first games in each of these competitions, and play will be continued every Friday night until the winners are decided. Following are last night's scores:

PROTESTING TO OTTAWA

Threatened Use of Floating Reduction Plants Off Coast Prompts Action

Anticipating disaster to the fish reduction industry on the west coast of Vancouver Island, threatened by the contemplated action of fisheries' interests south of the boundary line in proposing to send off floating fish reduction plants, the Meat, Oil and Salt Fish Section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, following an emergency meeting on Tuesday, sent a letter to Hon. J. E. Michaud, Minister of Fisheries at Ottawa, protesting against the plans of the United States operators.

If this latest development in offshore fishing is allowed to carry on, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association visualizes the end of the valuable industry which has been established on the west coast of Vancouver Island for a number of years. The letter points out, for the benefit of the minister, that factory ships, using a large fleet of seine boats, even if anchored off the coast of the State of Washington, would be fishing in waters adjacent to the British Columbia coast.

SEEMS INCONSISTENT

United States Pacific Coast fishing interests in co-operation with British Columbia fishermen and others identified with the industry have been making strenuous protests, the letter continues, in recent months against the contemplated invasion of Pacific Coast waters by English, Norwegian and Japanese fishermen—and it seems inconsistent, the letter points out, that certain United States interests should now attempt to do the very thing that the other interests in British Columbia and Washington have fought against.

C. R. Clark, Vancouver, secretary of the Meat, Oil and Salt Fish Section of the association, also forwarded a letter to George J. Alexander, assistant commissioner of fisheries for British Columbia, in which the latter was asked to enlist the support of the British Columbia Government in the protest which is being made to Ottawa.

As a result, the Provincial Department of Fisheries yesterday wired Hon. Mr. Michaud, stating that in view of the seriousness of threats of invasion by foreign vessels in the salmon and halibut fisheries, it is the opinion of the provincial department that the contemplated action by United States operators, will have the effect of throwing the door wide open to large scale invasions by Europeans and Japanese in the salmon and halibut industries.

The Ottawa Government was requested to take immediate action in the matter.

START IN JULY

SEATTLE, May 27 (P)—The Pacific Coast Fisheries Institute announced today a pilchard reduction fleet will start operating off the Washington and Oregon coasts about July 15.

At least four vessels will operate, two of them having pioneered the waters two years ago.

The institute said the reduction vessels will pay fishermen $11 a ton for their catches, and that fifty-four Puget Sound purse seiners already have contracted to supply the floating reduction plants operating beyond the three-mile limit from Coos Bay to Neah Bay.

Esquimalt Liberal Women Leaving Soon for Ireland

C. E. Whitney-Griffiths Addresses Gathering Arranged in His Honor at Fraser Street Athletic Hall—City Liberals Endorse Nominee

Reaffirming his pledges to do everything within his power to promote the welfare and progress of the big riding of Esquimalt, if elected, C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, Liberal candidate for the district in the present political campaign, yesterday afternoon addressed an audience of about 130 in the Athletic Hall, Fraser Street.

Sponsored by the executive committee of the Esquimalt Liberal Women's Club, the affair took the form of a reception, with Mrs. S. C. Carver in the chair during the formal part of the proceedings, when addresses were given by Claude L. Harrison, Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Mr. Byron Johnson and C. H. O'Halloran, K.C., all of whom warmly endorsed Mr. Whitney-Griffiths' candidature.

NO GOVERNMENT PERFECT
No government was perfect. On the one hand it was impossible for any government to supply all the amenities demanded by all the people; on the other, the government could not go ahead of public opinion, said Mr. Whitney-Griffiths. As far as Esquimalt constituency was concerned, the people should be getting more than they were for the taxes they were paying; they should have a representative who would do more for them than they had had in the past. The riding was a large one, extending 120 miles up the West Coast. If elected, he would do everything in his power to promote their best interests. He was anxious to see Esquimalt come into its own, he declared.

Referring to the Liberal regime of the past three and a half years, Mr. Whitney-Griffiths maintained that this compared most favorably with the Conservative regime that had preceded it. In the present campaign the public had listened to the arguments on both sides and should by now have made their own conclusions. Personally he thought the Liberals had shown definite desire to carry out the wishes of the people for progressive government and social legislation. For the past twenty years, Esquimalt had been represented by the same man. Now, on his retirement, this representative, in doffing his mantle, had asked the public to endorse the placing of it on the shoulders of another. Had that other, the speaker asked, the necessary experience.

SUPPORTS CANDIDATE
Showing a fascinating series of lantern-slides, C. L. Harrison, well-known advocate of forest conservation and the development of Vancouver Island's scenic and tourist attractions, maintained that Mr. Whitney-Griffiths' sincere and loyal support of these tenets over a long period of years merited him the support of the electorate. Also, although not Esquimalt's representative in the Government, Mr. Whitney-Griffiths had worked hard in the interests of the district, and had given every evidence of being sincere in his pledges to the people.

One series of the lantern-slides illustrated sections of Vancouver Island forest lands as they were a few years ago and as they were today, showing the devastation wrought by careless and wholesale cutting of the timber. This showed little foresight on the part of the Government. The Douglas fir, particularly, was a great asset to the Island, adding to the scenic attractions, and along the highways, especially, should have been preserved. Mr. Harrison advocated the handing over of certain areas to the Dominion Parks, as this was the only method of guaranteeing their inviolability. Cathedral Grove at one time could have been purchased for a relatively small sum. In Mr. Whitney-Griffiths' Esquimalt had a strong champion of timber conservation, said the speaker.

OTHER ENDORSEMENTS
In introducing Mrs. Hodges, Mr. O'Halloran also paid tribute to Mr. Whitney-Griffiths, who had the welfare of Esquimalt and its people deeply at heart. He also spoke in highest terms of Mr. Harrison's advocacy of the preservation of the timber assets of the Island and the development of the West Coast and other roads.

Mrs. Hodges suggested that, when completed, the West Coast Road should be called "Harrison Highway," in acknowledgement of what Mr. Harrison had done in advocating it. She recalled the effort made and the foresight shown by some of the women's organizations in connection with timber conservation, and expressed the view that the election of Mr. Whitney-Griffiths in Esquimalt would bring this nearer realization.

A charming programme of vocal solos was given by Mrs. W. L. Whitney-Griffiths, with Mrs. K. Douthwaite as accompanist, and the afternoon concluded with the serving of tea.

Local Council Bridge Tea to Have Artists

A musical programme is being arranged in connection with the bridge-tee which the Local Council of Women is sponsoring at the Y.W.C.A. on the afternoon of Friday, June 4, in aid of the grant which the council is trying to make toward the Pan-Pacific Women's Conference, to be held in Vancouver July 12 to 24.

War Veteran Nurse Given Special Honor

Mrs. James Baker regent of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, I.O.D.E. has received word of the tragic death in Colma, near San Francisco, of "Mother Minerva" Hartman, 104-year-old "war veteran," who was burned to death in her little three-room "fort on stilts." When firemen broke into the flaming house shortly after midnight, they found they were too late to rescue the centenarian, one of the most picturesque characters of the Bay region.

"Mother Minerva" was a nurse during the American Civil War, the North-Indian War, the Spanish-American War and a veteran of the Scutari battlefields in Crimea, where she was a close friend of Florence Nightingale, founder of modern nursing.

During visits to California, Mrs. Baker often went to see the aged nurse, who took a keen interest in Canada and a special interest in the work of the chapter named after her friend.

WORE CAMPAIGN HAT

As evidence of her military record, "Mother Minerva" always wore a faded old campaign hat. To show she played no favorites, the hat bore a blue cord for infantry, yellow for cavalry and red for artillery. Her "Mother" title was hers by Act of Congress in 1907, which named her "Mother of the Army and Navy." Records show that Minerva Ballou Hartman was born in Canton, Ohio, in 1832. Although a friend of Florence Nightingale, spirit of progress in the nursing profession, the centenarian was an outspoken foe of progress in other fields.

"I've seen a lot I wish I had never seen," she declared once. "She didn't like the radio and telephones were 'contraptions.' 'No, I have no radio. My Bible furnishes me with words for entertainment and the birds and waving trees are my music,' she once told a reporter.

The aged nurse was buried with full military honors in the National Cemetery at the Presidio.

MAYFAIR NEEDLE-ART DESIGN NO. 347

Old-fashioned cross stitch makes this very grand chair back and arm rests. They will dress up your living-room beautifully. The set is worked in one color—blue on natural or lighter blue linens, or brown on natural or tan linen, or any combination of colors most suitable for your room. The edges are finished with a blanket stitch and the old stage coach design is unusually appropriate for living-rooms. Also suitable for cushion tops or runners. The pattern contains transfers of the designs on the chair back and two arm rests, color combinations, detail of embroidery and instructions for finishing.

Honor Bride-to-Be

Mrs. Edward Glover, Mrs. G. E. Keatley and Miss Thelma Glover were hostesses last evening at Mrs. Glover's home on Darwin Road, when they entertained in honor of Miss Evelyn Cruickshank, whose marriage to Mr. William Glover will take place next week. The bride-to-be received a dainty china tea-set with the best wishes of her friends. Pink tulips and columbine in pastel shades were used in decorating the reception rooms. Contests and games were played and later supper was served from an artistically arranged table with a tiny bride and groom standing in the middle of a miniature rubber tree as its centerpiece. The blooms from pink and white columbines were scattered upon the mirror on which the tiny couple and cirelet rested and completed this appropriate motif. The invited guests were Mrs. J. Cruickshank, Sr.; Mrs. J. Lane, Mrs. M. A. Moffatt, Mrs. H. Bond, Mrs. H. Gilchrist, Mrs. D. Dawkins, Mrs. R. Miles, Mrs. F. Fleury, Mrs. F. Edwards, Mrs. F. J. Thorn, Mrs. H. Marshall, Mrs. G. Shower for Bride-to-Be

St. Martin's Business Women's Auxiliary was hostess recently at a miscellaneous shower given in honor of Miss Eunice Parker, at the home of Mrs. W. J. Leggett, Vincent Street. The many gifts were concealed under the crimoline skirts of a "Colonial lady," whose frock was made of blue crepe paper. Masses of columbine, lily-burnum and lilac made the reception rooms gay. Games were played, the winners being Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. T. Thompson and Mrs. O. Leggett. The supper table was attractive with a centerpiece of early Summer blossoms in a low bowl. Those present were: Mrs. F. Parker, Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. W. Gilbert, Mrs. G. Leggett, Mrs. T. Thompson, Mrs. G. Eade, Mrs. J. Turkington, Mrs. A. Hunt, Mrs. L. Basanta, Mrs. E. Leggett, Mrs. J. Shower Hostesses

In honor of Miss Janet Hay, a July bride-to-be, a shower was given recently by the Misses I. and N. Millan and Mrs. J. Almond at the home of their mother, Mrs. T. Millan, 1269 Montrose Avenue. The color scheme was carried out in green and light amber, and the table was covered with an ecru lace cloth over green and centred with a bowl of yellow iris and green fern. The gifts were concealed beneath a Colonial doll dressed in colors of green and amber. Games were enjoyed. The invited guests were Mesdames W. Hay, S. Swetnam, J. O'Connor, T. Clements, D. Templeton, D. Thomson, A. Thompson, D. Taylor, J. Hamilton, W. Allison, R. Johnson, J. Jones, H. Sloan, W. Arnot, H. Hogarth, W. McArthur, D. Campbell, A. Buchanan, D. J. McClellan, J. P. Bruce, W. London-fashion circles are buzzing with conjecture regarding the influence of Queen Elizabeth over British style trends. When the Duke of Windsor was on the Throne the dominant influence over style trends was controlled by Marina, Duchess of Kent, but now the Queen's fashions are becoming very much in evidence, and there is every indication that Her Majesty's styles will become very popular.

Peerless Fashion Patterns

Edited by LAURA L. BALDY, A.M. Author of "New Fashion Patterns" and "Household Arts" Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, N.Y.

The casual jacket with short sleeves makes this one-piece flared gown a dress a favorite in play togs. It makes a practical as well as a smart ensemble, since it can be worn for spectator sports or for town. Golf enthusiasts will also like this ensemble for golf. The easy to wear boxy jacket has action-flared sleeves. You'll want to wear it over other frocks. Rough linen-like weave cottons, novelty piques, striped linen and washable silks are a lovely choice. You'll want the short skirted version for tennis or for the beach. It's very flattering in a cotton challis Paisley print to wear over your bathing suit for sun-tanning. A Detailed Sewing Chart is included. Style No. 3114 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46-inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for dress, with 1 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for jacket. The Spring and Summer Fashion Book is filled with lovely designs for everyday wear, which are easy and inexpensive to make.

SITUATION WAS TENSE

Enraged Marine Workers Took Charge of San Pedro And Defied Police

SAN PEDRO, Cal., May 28 (AP).—An angry army of 4,000 marine workers, enraged over what they called the unjustifiable slaying of a longshoreman by a police officer, took over this harbor city today. The situation was tense for a time, as the men defied extra police details to stop them.

Virtually every business house in the waterfront area was closed and street car service interrupted. At the climactic point, the protesters moved over to Wilmington Bowl for a mass meeting. They demanded the prosecution on murder charges of Policeman William H. Redding, for the shooting of Norman Gregg, longshoreman.

Redding shot Gregg during an altercation yesterday in a San Pedro pub. Police officials, after a preliminary investigation, said the officer acted in self-defence.

KIPLING SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

A. E. G. Cornwell Is Named President for Fifth Consecutive Term At Annual Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Victoria Kipling Society, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Symons, Victoria Avenue, A. E. G. Cornwell was re-elected president of the society for the fifth consecutive term. He founded the group four years ago, and has piloted its affairs since then.

Other officers elected were: Vice-president, K. C. Symons; secretary, T. Simons; publicity secretary, Miss M. Neal. Miss H. Leighton was appointed to the executive to fill a vacancy caused by resignation of D. White.

The chief speaker of the evening was Colonel H. T. Goodland, who became intimately acquainted with Rudyard Kipling during the service with the Imperial War Graves Commission.

The society will present a group showing of "Elephant Boy" on June 4. It is a moving picture based on Kipling's "Toomai of the Elephants." Preliminary arrangements for the August picnic were discussed. C. V. Milton was awarded a prize for supplying the largest number of names of Kipling characters in a set of verses.

RECOVER OVER FIFTY BODIES

Expect to Find Many Others In Debris of Stricken Mexican Town

EL ORO, Mexico, May 28 (AP).—Fifty-five bodies had been recovered tonight from the mud and sand of an avalanche that engulfed parts of the mining town of Tlalpujahua, about fifteen miles from here.

Rescue workers believed they would find many other bodies in the debris, which in some places below the town reached a depth of fifty or sixty feet.

The slow-moving mass flowed down the mountainsides and over and beyond Tlalpujahua when a dam, holding back years of "tailings" from the Dos Estrellas Gold Mine, gave way after three days of heavy rains. It struck the mining town, which has a population of 10,000, before dawn yesterday.

WIDESPREAD DESTRUCTION

Destruction of property was widespread. The sticky avalanche extended fifteen miles below Tlalpujahua, covering El Carmen and farms. In Tlalpujahua Proper, municipal authorities said 700 families lost their homes. Warnings the night before the slide that the "tailings" were shifting were not heeded.

Carrying Sheep By Air to Grass

MELBOURNE (BUP).—A scheme to transport sheep by airplane across barren stretches of desert, which had made driving almost impossible, to the vast tract of fertile country in the Northern Territory, known as the Barkly Tableland, has been prepared by an air transport company.

The company proposes to use a fleet of German-built Diesel-engine planes capable of carrying a hundred sheep each and the first of the machines recently arrived at Darwin. Later, it is hoped to invite the Commonwealth Government to co-operate in the scheme.

Mayor Present at Mining Lecture

NANAIMO, May 28. — Pupils of the local mining class assembled at the Technical School to hear the last of a series of lectures delivered by H. Freeman, Thursday night.

The city council was represented by Mayor J. Barsby, Alderman Kerr, Alderman J. Muir and School Trustee R. Covenay.

A. Cowie spoke on the value of the classes, which had grown during the year from an original eighteen to forty-two. A get-together social followed.

SAFE WORTH MORE THAN ITS CONTENTS

CHARLOTTE, N.C., May 28 (AP).—If the thieves who laboriously made off with the 500-pound safe from a local oil distributing company sell it for scrap iron instead of trying to open it, they'll make more money. Company officials told police it contained only fifteen cents.

If May 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date, are from 11:15 a.m. to 1:15 p.m., from 3:15 to 5:15 p.m. and from 8:15 to 10:15 p.m. The danger periods are from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 5:15 to 7:15 p.m. and from 10:15 p.m. until midnight.

It might be well to remember that frequently, a beautiful body can encase a selfish and ugly soul, so do not judge too much by personal appearance this day. You may discover that someone with a severe aspect is the personification of kindness. The temptation to show off or in some ostentatious way attract attention is likely to prevail. That will be a mistake. Pretentious claims and actions, are not apt to be taken seriously or to meet with a kindly reception. Many invitations of a social nature will be declined this day, due solely to a seemingly lack of warmth or sincerity back of them. You ought to let your actions and words give evidence of your possessing a lot of vital force and enthusiasm. Married and engaged couples, as well as those whose liking for someone has blossomed into love, should be willing to co-operate in any plan that gives promise of some sort of pleasurable diversion, that might be proposed this day, even if they are not inclined to make an effort to go some place.

If a woman and May 29 is your birthday, you have, most likely, many valuable qualifications that can be put to profitable use. You ought to have plenty of "pop," a marvelous amount of determination and ambition. You are a peacefully disposed person, but capable of putting up a strenuous fight for a principle. You are a staunch friend, open-hearted and aboveboard in all that you do. Love will stimulate you in your efforts to keep pace with the times and to solve the problems brought about by changing conditions. Success will crown your efforts. Through art, writing, teaching, entertaining, selling or lecturing you may be well rewarded financially and in winning a worthwhile reputation. You ought to have no difficulty in making your married life a happy one. The child born on May 29, is usually blessed in many ways. By the time it reaches its teens, some talent probably will be uncovered, which, if developed, ought to bring gratifying results. If a man and May 29 is your natal day, you should be a good judge of human nature. By being conservative and thrifty your ambitions are likely to be realized. Some of the best activities for you to select a vocation from are: law, literature, journalism, engineering, work of a theatrical nature or a manufacturing enterprise.

CHAPTER II

The snow was still falling gently. People in the street walked with their chins in their coat collars. Children with new sleds were coasting down the hill, their voices clear and happy.

Eden, sitting beside Dee in the drafty little coupe, tucked her chin in the softness of the blue velvet collar. During the drive to the country she was silent.

In a dark road the car swerved abruptly to the right and passed down a long winding lane flanked by tall old trees laden with snow. Eden sat up, seeing a vast expanse of snow-covered lawn before an enormous grey stone house with tall white pillars. Lights from the house fell on the snow and when the door was opened to admit a group of guests just arriving, she heard the music faintly.

"This is one of the oldest houses in Maryland and one of the largest," Dee said.

Generations of aristocratic Nolans had been born and raised in this house, Eden thought, as Brad stopped the car in the driveway. They were born to wealth and culture and to position and the eldest son to ownership of this house. Now David was the last of his line.

She felt a tremor of excitement when the door opened and she stepped inside with Dee and Brad. And it was because she was looking at the vast hall and into the dimly lighted ballroom where people were dancing that she did not see either David or the girl with him, a tall girl with mahogany colored hair wearing a silver dress until they were standing next to her.

"The last to arrive and the last to leave, I hope," David was saying in his deep, steady voice.

Brad introduced Eden to him. He was tall with smooth brown hair brushed back with a high, intelligent forehead. He had brown eyes and a pleasant smile. Solid and dependable, Eden thought at once.

"I'm delighted that you could come," he said to Eden and introduced her to the girl at his side—Thelma King.

Eden thought, "Thelma King thinks I'm an intruder. David is nice. But all of Dee's hopes are for nothing. I'm never going to be in love with him. I know that now. But I'd like him for a friend."

David told them where to leave their wraps upstairs and Eden felt his eyes follow her as she walked up the broad polished stairs. A maid met them and led them to a bedroom.

Dee asked, "Well, how do you like him?" Eden patted her pale hair in place. "He's nice. But Thelma King thinks that no 'nice' girl would come to a party like this without an escort."

The music had begun again when they came down. And the vast hall was empty except for Brad and a tall and lean young man with eyes as black as his hair to whom he was talking. Steady eyes with fire in them. A strong face very unburned, as she had known it would be.

It took only a moment for her and Dee to walk to them, but in that moment Eden felt something happen in her heart. It was absurd, but it was true. It did not matter who he was. But walking toward him she thought that everything that happened to her had been but a preparation for meeting this man. She felt a little like laughing and crying, all at once. "It isn't David Nolan," she thought. "It never will be! It's this man, whoever he is."

And this is the most important moment of my life.

Brad introduced them and Eden heard his name, Neil Dane. She felt his black eyes sweep over her, saw the quick frown that was to become so familiar, so beloved.

Neil Dane thought, "It's because I've seen nothing but dark-haired, dark-skinned people for three years that I'm staring like a fool at this girl. She's very beautiful. I told Dave how I hated getting dressed up for parties like this. But now—now I'm glad. It's just my dumb luck that I have the loveliest girl here."

He asked, "Shall we dance? The music's good."

When Eden and Neil went into the ballroom, Brad said, "He's a swell person. Neil Dane, I mean. And he's had an interesting life."

LIBERALS MEET AT SHAWNIGAN

Addresses Given in Support of Candidacy of C. E. Whitney-Griffiths

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, May 28.—In the interests of C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, Liberal candidate for Esquimalt, a meeting was held on Wednesday evening in the S.L.A.A. Hall. The speakers, introduced by C. M. Robertson, were C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, Claude L. Harrison, Miss J. Hannay and Samuel R. More.

Mr. Whitney-Griffiths, in his address, said he was concerned mainly with the development of Vancouver Island, its industries, natural resources, and as a playground for residents and tourists. He stressed the need of a road connecting the valuable West Coast with Victoria.

Miss J. Hannay, of the Victoria Young Liberal Association, spoke on the Oriental vote as advocated by the C.C.F. party, comparing the living standard of the Oriental with those of the white races, and describing such a vote as "selling our birthright to the Orientals."

Claude L. Harrison gave an interesting lecture, illustrated by slides, depicting the beauty of Vancouver Island's scenery and timber stands, and the desolation caused by modern logging methods.

The candidate was praised by Samuel More, in his speech. He was greatly impressed, he said, with Mr. Whitney-Griffiths' sincerity of purpose.

WATER AND LIGHT ARE DISCUSSED

Ladysmith Council Considering Purchase of Street Lamps for Business Blocks

LADYSMITH, May 28.—Alderman W. Joyce was welcomed back to the regular meeting of the City Council after an absence of many weeks due to illness.

The local post of the Native Sons of British Columbia were represented by E. T. Reid and R. Battle as a delegation seeking the council's co-operation in the matter of a water supply for the tennis courts recently taken over by the post. The Ladysmith Water Company was unable to provide a supply, as private property intervened, so the Native Sons proposed that the water supply be acquired by the city from the Canadian Collieries could be utilized for the purpose.

That constant malicious damage to the wooden flume had made it impossible for the council to maintain it, but, if the Native Sons cared, they could help themselves to the available water in a repaired flume. Finally, it was decided the works committee would meet the delegation and go over the scene.

MUCH BUILDING

Considerable building is still in evidence, and permits were granted for further construction.

Ladysmith will be a brighter city for forthcoming celebrations, and the council will consider the purchase of four hundred colored lights to illuminate First Avenue on festive occasions.

Alderman Joyce reported he had recently visited the Mainland in the company of the city electrician as the guest of the Westinghouse and Northern Electric to examine some of the recent improvements in street lighting. In Mission City they had a modern system of mercury-vapour lamp street lighting, and it was excellent.

Cost quotations were not available but after a full discussion, the council decided to obtain estimates on possible costs for installation along the two principal business blocks on First from Roberts Street to High Street.

Eden nodded her lovely head. "Thank you, but my mother told me you're not an angel," she smiled. "Now about South America."

SHAKESPEAREAN LOVE TALE HERE

"Romeo and Juliet" Opens at Capitol Theatre Today With Leslie Howard Starred

"Romeo and Juliet," which comes to the Capitol Theatre today, has been pictured with fidelity. Beginning with the opening scenes, which establish the hatred of the Montagues and Capulets, whose feud caused the young lovers to marry in secret, the drama is a masterpiece of the hands of Tybalt, Romeo's slaying of Tybalt to avenge his friend's death, his banishment and the swift dramatic events that follow, the picture is all action.

The love story is woven like a golden thread through this background of hate.

ATLAS Filmed in natural Technicolor, "Wings of the Morning," for the last times tonight at the Atlas Theatre, stars Annabella, Henry Fonda and Leslie Banks.

John McCormack, world-famous tenor, sings in the film.

COLUMBIA New myth and melody adventures with the "Singing Saddle" star, Gene Autry, are in store for the patrons of the Columbia Theatre, where the Republic picture, "Oh Susanna," shows for the last time tonight. Smiley Burnette and Francis Grant assist the star.

DOMINION Each of the ten comedians in "Top of the Town" now at the Dominion Theatre, has a comic in humor all his own. The comedians include Hugh Herbert, Gregory Ratoff, Henry Armetta, Mischa Auer; the Three Sailors who answer to the names of Jason, Robson and Blue; Ray Mayer; Richard Carle, famous for his stage comedy; Jack Samson, known for his radio work.

Los Angeles drama critics, when they saw this play, were unanimous in saying that Ernest Frederick Chester, who will direct it in Victoria and take the leading role, had drawn a living picture of Paul Trant, the artist, from both writing and acting angles.

Greenberg Leads Tigers to Double Win Over Browns

Homer in Fourth Inning Decides Margin of Victory in First Game—Lawson Twirls Eighth Triumph of Season—Pirates Tounce Cardinals—Cubs Score Easily Over Cincinnati

AMERICAN LEAGUE

DETROIT, May 28 (AP).—The big bat of Hank Greenberg, who played despite a strained leg muscle, aided Detroit's Tigers to a double victory over St. Louis today, and put them in second place in the American League. Greenberg's eighth home run of the season, a crashing drive over the center field scoreboard, with the bases empty in the fourth inning, decided the margin of victory. The Pirates' slugger, Eddi Lucus, who gave up only four safeties, developed a kink in his side while pitching to Frankie Frisch in the sixth inning, and was promptly removed by Manager Pie Traynor. The Pirates tucked the contest safely away with six runs in the eighth. In that frame Forrest Jensen, Paul Waner, Arky Vaughan and Gus Suhr hit successive singles and Haines went to the showers. Lee Handley kept up the procession of singles with a safety off Winford, and then "Pep" Young was purposely passed. Hoyt responded to the Cards' strategy with a hard double to right center, bringing in two more runs. Lloyd Waner singled, scoring Hoyt, and Jensen was thrown out by Frisch to end the onslaught.

CLEVELAND, May 28 (AP).—Henry "Zeke" Bonura cracked a two-base hit against the right field wall of League Park today, allowing Ray Radcliffe to hurry in from second base with the Chicago run which defeated Cleveland, 3 to 2, in a ten-inning game.

Radcliffe had reached second base on a walk, and Mike Kreevich's sacrifice, and probably would have remained there had Jeff Heath, Cleveland right fielder, not misjudged Bonura's drive. It was a low liner and Heath barged in for the catch, discovering too late that it was going over his head, and then backed up too tardily to make the catch. The defeat ended a three-game winning streak for the Indians, and pushed them down into third place.

Vernon Kennedy held the Indians to eight hits while the White Sox were collecting nine, much to the dismay of 5,000 Ladies' Day fans, who brought the total attendance for the game to 8,000. One of the Indians' eight hits was Hal Trosky's third home run of the season, a whistling liner over the right field wall in the second inning.

Cochrane Report Encouraging, Says Attending Doctor
NEW YORK, May 28 (AP).—Hopes for the recovery of Mickey Cochrane, Detroit baseball manager, who was struck in the temple by a pitched baseball Tuesday, soared today.

For the first time, Dr. Robert Emmet Walsh came out of the sick room with an encouraging statement.

"I am encouraged; definitely so," said Dr. Walsh. He refused to discuss the case further, but Mrs. Cochrane and friends were elated by that brief statement.

As the Detroit manager fought for his life with his skull cracked in three places by an accidental "beamer" thrown by pitcher Irving Hadley, of New York Yankees, baseball leaders from Commissioner Keneas M. Landis down were in arms.

Prevention by the probable use of polo helmets is being considered, but orders also have been issued by the respective leagues to deal harshly with any pitcher found guilty of deliberately throwing at a batsman's head.

Pastor Punches Out One-Sided Fight Decision

LOS ANGELES, May 28 (AP).—Bob Pastor, New York, punched Young Bob Nestell, Los Angeles, out of the front ranks of the nation's heavy-weight hopefuls tonight, winning by a wide margin a ten-round decision before more than 30,000 fans at Wrigley Field.

After a wild free-swinging opening round the two slowed down in the second, but Pastor floored blond-headed Bob for eight in the third with a short left that traveled hardly a foot.

Nestell's eye was split open in the fourth, the only evident damage of the bout.

The Associated Press score card gave him six of the ten stanzas, most of them by wide margins.

ARMY ATHLETES SEEK LAURELS

Garrison Championships at Stake Today at Work Point Barracks

Army track and field men will vie for honors in the annual Garrison sports meet this afternoon at Work Point Barracks. A fine programme of events has been drawn up, with the first race slated to start at 2 o'clock.

In addition to the track and field items—arranged for the leading athletes—novelty events, children's races and women's events have been included on the lengthy and attractive programme.

Handsome trophies will be at stake for the individual aggregate and the unit aggregate, while fine prizes will be presented to the winners in each of the items on the card.

The Garrison has been divided into three units for the meet, Royal Canadian Artillery, Royal Canadian Patricia's Light Infantry and Composites. (Including the remaining units of the Garrison).

Invitations have been extended to members of the Royal Canadian Navy and the non-permanent militia units and their families to witness the sports.

Brigadier D. J. MacDonald, D.S.O., M.C., District Officer Commanding M.D. XI, will be the chief referee.

MOSCOW, May 28 (AP).—Soviet Russia informed the British Government tonight that she agrees in principle for a truce in Spain, but insists the Spanish insurgents must first cease all hostilities and withdraw all foreign troops, including Moors.

WINS SEVEN FIRST PLACES AT ANNUAL CHAMPIONSHIP MEET

Nineteen-Year-Old Athlete Turns in Grand Display at Victoria High School Campus—Breaks Shot Put Record—Eva Mason Captures Senior Girls' Title—Good Finishes

Nineteen-year-old George "Porky" Andrews, basketball star and all-round athlete, yesterday afternoon, retained his senior track and field championship at the annual Victoria High School sports meet held on the wind-swept campus.

Andrews carried off the honors in seven events and compiled thirty points, nine better than Fred Smith, the runner-up. It was Andrews' third straight triumph and enabled him to set up a mark for High School athletes to shoot at in future years. Smith, intermediate titleholder last year, provided all of the competition for the champion and placed right behind him in most events in which the two were entered.

Edward Green, promising young track and field star, nosed out E. Holyoak by a single-point margin in the intermediate boys' competition.

The champion scored nineteen points.

GIRLS' CHAMPIONSHIP

The senior girls' championship was annexed by Eva Mason, with a point total of sixteen, five more than L. Crowther. The keenest competition was seen in the intermediate girls' division. Daralaine Woodburn, last year's junior champion, and Florence Kennedy divided the honors with thirteen points apiece.

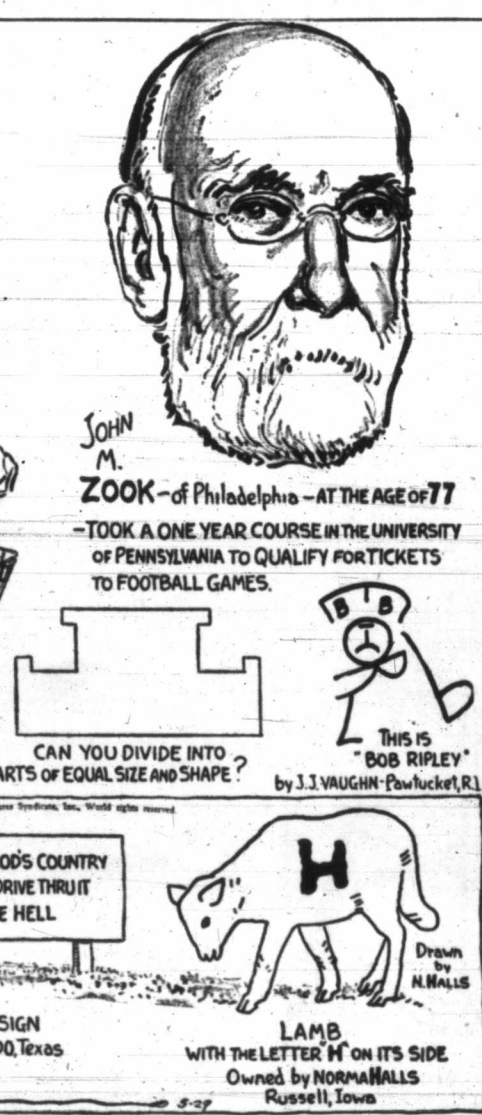

Ivy Emma Dunnett put together thirteen points, enough to capture the junior girls' honors.

Jerry Chapman collected fifteen points and the junior boys' championship, and Norman Carter scored seventeen points to win the juvenile laurels.

There were a number of good finishes on the grass-covered track, but with a stiff cross-field breeze blowing all afternoon times were a little slow, and consequently no track records were shattered.

"Porky" Andrews was credited with the only record-breaking performance of the afternoon when he set up a mark of forty-five feet one and one-half inches in the shot put, Continued on Page 13, Column 6

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON
The Most Daring Sit-Down—During the naval engagement of the Union forces under Commander Rowan against the Confederate vessels near Cobb's Point Fort in the Albemarle Sound, a Confederate shell caused a fire to break out aboard the Union ship Valley City. The sparks and flames were shooting towards an open powder barrel, in the powder magazine of the vessel, when John Davis, an intrepid quarter gunner, leaped forward and sat down upon the open barrel to prevent the fire from reaching the powder. Flames soon enveloped him, his clothing was on fire and he was severely burned, but he sat until his comrades put out the conflagration. For saving his ship he was decorated with the Medal of Honor.

Sweeney, Munn Will Meet Today For Golf Honors

American to Face Veteran Irishman in Thirty-Six Hole Final for British Amateur Crown at Sandwich—Register Convincing Victories During Day—Peters Beaten in the Morning

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer.
SANDWICH, Eng., May 28 (AP).—Tall, black-haired Bob Sweeney, American by birth but British by accent, qualified today for the final round of the British amateur golf championship, along with Lionel Munn, jovial fifty-year-old Irishman.

Should Sweeney succeed in taking Munn's measure in tomorrow's thirty-six-hole final, America will be able to lay partial claim to Great Britain's coveted golf crown once again. Sweeney has spent the impressive, he looked tired towards evening and another thirty-six holes, promised to tax his strength. Munn was steadiness personified as he ousted Pennink 2 up and then eliminated De Bendor, elder brother of John de Forest, British amateur champion of 1932, 4 and 3.

Sweeney, with as keen a putting touch as this ancient championship has ever seen, eliminated Wehrle, 3 and 2, then went on to swamp Stowe, 6 and 3. Stowe had engineered one of the biggest upsets of the tournament in the morning when he handed Gordon Peters, young Scottish Walker Cup star, a 3 and 2 beating. Against Sweeney he never had a chance.

Quist to Play In Net Series For Australia

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP).—The Australians today named Adrian K. Quist, their all-time No. 1 star, and the veteran Jack Crawford to oppose Don Budge and Bryan (Bilby) Grant in the opening singles matches of the North American Davis Cup finals at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, tomorrow. Crawford was drawn against Budge for the first match, with Quist meeting Grant in the second.

The team insulted the veteran, so wounding his feelings that within an hour he had packed and left for home. Munn simply did not give his titled opponent in the semi-finals a chance. He toured the out-nine in 35, one under par, to take a two-hole lead as De Bendor used up thirty-seven shots. The Celt finished out the match by shooting even 4's as far up the back-nine as was necessary to conclude the match.

Sweeney has been a steady contender in the British amateur since 1932, but he never before reached the finals. Eliminated in the third round in 1932 and in the fourth in 1933, he reached the semi-finals in 1935 before bowing to Lawson Little, who went on to win the crown.

Last year he put out the Scottish favorite, Jack McLean, now a professional, and got to the sixth round before losing a marathon twenty-one hole battle to Jim Ferrier, Australian champion. Ferrier subsequently reached the finals, where he was beaten by Hector Thomson, Scot stylist, whose ill-health prevented defence of the title this year.

Two Men Jailed Following Fight

Gerald O'Neill is in the city jail on a charge of robbery with violence, and Ernest Savidant, a companion, is charged with supplying liquor to an Indian as the result of a legged fracas in a room near Johnston Street and Oriental Alley at 10:05 yesterday morning.

The men were arrested by Sergeant A. H. Bishop and Constable R. Lanning, when Sergeant Bishop, who was patrolling Johnston Street, heard the disturbance in the room. The cases will be heard in city police court this morning.

The Sinews of Trade

In the early days Canadian trade was conducted in its simplest form. There was little money in circulation; settlers exchanged furs and the produce of their farms for simple necessities of local manufacture and rare luxuries imported from abroad.

As the fabulous resources of the country became known, the tide of colonization swept inland. Population increased and trade developed between adjoining communities. Trails became highways; the canoe, bateau and Durham boat gave way to the steamer; the pack horse and wagon were supplanted by the railroad; and a steady stream of furs, timber, staves, wheat and flour flowed toward the ports for shipment overseas.

Each phase of development brought new and diversified demands for commodities and services. Accurate up-to-date news of available goods, of current prices and markets became increasingly important to consumers, producers and merchants alike.

The newspapers recognized the need and were quick to provide this essential information. Every issue recorded the current fluctuations in prices and supplies, the arrival and departure of ships and all other data of vital importance to trade.

Maintenance of this service and extension of its scope to meet each new development have contributed much to the expansion and prosperity of Canadian trade.

Today the daily newspapers serve Canadian trade more thoroughly and effectively than ever. Every day throughout the country more than two million copies are distributed and read. Their pages provide a complete and reliable guide to markets upon which the business men of Canada depend.

DAD BUYS A BLOUSE AS A PRESENT FOR MOM

BATH NIGHT By CLAYTON WILLIAMS

Jane Dixon Says:

THOSE WHO INSIST ON PURSUING A LOST LOVE ARE BOUND TO LOSE

"I don't love you anymore."

Hard to take, isn't it, when your own heart is filled to overflowing with love for the one in whose heart love has died?

Hard, but there's nothing to do except take it.

No formula has been found for compelling love. All the wisdom of men and women has not found a way to make love bloom where it isn't.

Love is absolutely arbitrary.

We cannot buy it. We cannot sell it.

It comes with the wind and is gone with the wind.

I wish I could control it, for so many of you write to me about its contrariness.

I can only say that if it is not fine and good and sweet and mutual, it is not true love.

Jane Dixon: I'm a young man of twenty odd, living with my mother. For almost a year I've been going with a girl four years my senior. She holds a responsible executive position in an important business. She is assisted by her sister, who is a few years younger than she.

They are two of the most attractive girls I have ever met. The younger sister married recently, a man some years older than herself.

PUZZLED BY HER ACTIONS

I've grown to love the older sister, have done everything possible to help her with her work, to amuse her, to please her. For a while she seemed to love me, but lately she has changed. She doesn't seem to appreciate the candy and flowers I send her or to be interested in making me happy. When I ask her why, she tells me she doesn't love me anymore.

I love her so much. I'd do anything to make her happy and to have her love me. Maybe it's because she thinks she is too old for me; that she is ready to marry and that I can't until this summer. I've told her this, but what I can't understand is that she keeps going with me, accepting my gifts and still acts so strange. Please tell me what to do. Something is wrong somewhere. Should I forget it all—if I can?—Another Man.

Comment: The trouble, it seems, is not with you, but is due to the fact that the kid sister has married a man older than herself—which used to be the thing to do—and that big sister is affected with an inferiority complex.

Business women should have better sense.

ADVISE A FRANK TALK

When women were old at forty and men were young at fifty, there was another deal. Nowadays women can be as young or younger than men, and there is no necessity for quibbling over birthdays. Age depends on how you look, how you feel, how you carry on. And that goes for men and women.

However, the woman has told you she no longer loves you. That puts the matter squarely up to you.

If she doesn't love you she doesn't. You should be man enough to accept her verdict and stop whining about it.

She's a business woman, you tell me, a good business woman, so she ought to know her own mind. She should know, for example, that no matter what her sister does she has her own life to live and her own pattern of life to make.

I'd have a frank talk with her, and if she tells you, once and for all, that she no longer loves you, bid her farewell and go.

When you insist on pursuing a lost cause you are bound to lose!

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

TRAGEDY—A SONG ABOUT A GOAT!

"All our tragedies," wrote Jeremy Taylor from the depths of his inside information, "are of kings and princes."

That, however, is not how it started, for the tragedy, in the dramatic sense, began by being centered about the poor, much-maligned goat!

It all happened in the days of long ago when Greece was young, and even its infants were so clever that they very early in life learned to speak with facility the classic longue that today bedevils our smartest grown-ups.

The "tragedy" was more or less contemporaneous with the play, but the first dramatic representations, which were crude festivals to the deity they worshipped, ceased very quickly after their introduction to satisfy the scholarly Athenians. The coarse scenes offended them as inappropriate to honor a god and incongruous with Greek taste and learning.

In an effort to improve them, they offered a prize for the best ode delivered in the most dramatic manner. The prize was a "tragos" or goat. And he who earned it had the privilege of personally sacrificing it to the god.

So every dramatic representation or play in which a life was supposed to be taken came to be called "a song about a goat" or tragedy.

SAYS CONSOL PLAN ABSURD

Finance Minister States Refunding With Perpetual Bond Not Practicable

DUNCAN, May 28.—"To the initiated, the plan of British consols may hold an appeal as a solution to the refunding of the Provincial debt; but to anyone conversant with financial matters, the whole scheme is absurd. There is but one policy to adopt in the refunding of British Columbia's debt during the next five years, and that is the one that I have just outlined to you," declared Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, when speaking here this evening in support of Arnold Flett, the Liberal candidate in the Cowichan-Newcastle riding.

"Consols, or irredeemable securities, are definitely out as a refunding plan, and anyone advocating such a scheme, discloses little knowledge of public investments. Life insurance companies, trust companies or banks who absorb the bulk of Government issues, are by force of circumstances practically compelled to invest in securities with a definite maturity," Mr. Hart said.

"Even the Dominion Government had to market its perpetuals at a discount, and since marketing them the bonds have suffered a drop in the market price of ten points. Obviously, if the Dominion securities are subject to such a high fluctuation it would be absurd for a Province to expect to sell consols at favorable terms," Mr. Hart asserted.

The minister then outlined his plan of refunding, whereby $20,000,000 of P.G.E. guaranteed stock would be refunded on the London market.

Preparatory work already had been done to accomplish this together with the formulating of plans to repay or refund in part a further $40,000,000 maturing within the next five years.

The Province also owed the Dominion some $31,000,000 on account of unemployment relief. The Government, Mr. Hart declared, had always regarded relief as a national problem, and had been pressing its claim at Ottawa for full recognition of unemployment as a national problem.

"I am confident that the Province will not have to pay this debt," the minister said.

Mr. Hart dealt with the net debt which, he declared, was $152,000,000, or $47,000,000 less than claimed by Dr. Frank Patterson, the Conservative leader.

Alderman W. T. Straith, Liberal candidate in Victoria, also supported Mr. Flett, addressing the audience on matters pertaining to the West Coast Road. Mr. Flett dealt more with matters of specific interest to his constituency, pointing out that as a native son, he had an intimate knowledge of the requirements of the district.

FERRY CRAFT ARE TIED UP

Inland Boatmen's Union Issued Strike Call at Seattle Yesterday

SEATTLE, May 28 (AP).—The Inland Boatmen's Union issued a strike call late today, affecting approximately 400 employees on Puget Sound passenger and automobile ferries. Boats were tied up as rapidly as they finished regular evening schedules. Still hoping to reach an agreement on wages, hours and employment conditions which would permit resumption of service tomorrow, operators and union officials were in conference with the labor relations committee of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. Representatives of both sides declined to comment on the outcome.

Involved in the tie-up are twenty-five vessels of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, the Ballard-Ludlow ferry and the West Pass Transportation Company.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: A familiar face at our local tournaments is that of a character known as 'the Gargyle,' from the harmonian grimace he assumes upon finding a hostile opponent lurking in ambush or the outstanding trumps banked off-side. In spite of a regrettable fondness for light doubles and a tendency to clown, he is a shrewd card flipper, especially on defense, and he didn't fail to fix me properly on the following hand, which came up at one of our recent Thursday evening duplicates. I sat South and the Gargyle, unhappily for me, was West.

"The spade jack came out and East's king went to my ace. I could see that odd depended on establishing a squeeze position and that in order to do so it would be necessary to give up a trick immediately to gain the proper timing. It seemed better tactics to lose this trick in hearts rather than clubs, so my first lead was the heart four. And now for a review of Gargyle's mental processes during the next few minutes which he gladly furnished me gratis after the hand had been played.

CONSTRUCTIVE SPEECHES

Sir,—Out of the great amount of general talk, radio addresses and what not that we have had during the present election campaign, one matter stands out as a beacon. That is, the extremely constructive addresses both over the air and on the public platform that have been given by Mr. Anscomb. Never once has he spoken in an unbecoming way of any candidate and never once has he spoken nonsense. Every time that he makes an address it is full of facts that deal with the problems of the day. His speeches on the financial problems of the Government have been a masterpiece. Last evening showed very clearly how the present Minister of Finance had been responsible for the loss of over $700,000 of the workers' money in his lack of handling the funds of the Workmen's Compensation Board, and in every other way he has given us constructive ideas as to how the debt problem will be dealt with by the Conservative Party. What a contrast to the stupidity of the Premier and Mr. Hart, who have even now driven us into bankruptcy.

We will elect Mr. Anscomb by the greatest majority ever given to a Victoria candidate because British Columbia needs his services.

HARRY SCOTT.
